CHAMPIONS WILL SHOW WARES AT MILLROSE MEET

New Records Possible in Games To Be Held Next Wednesday Night

Champions will be plentiful at the annual indoor meet of the Millrose Athletic Association to be held in Madison Square Garden next Wednesday evening. Practically every section of the country will be represented, while the country will be represented, while many of the athletes who competed in the national cutdoor championships in Newark will again be on hand.

It is probable that several new recerds will be established, as the competitors will perform on a new board floor. A roller skating concern is responsible for the flooring, which will eliminate the dangerous features that have marked the competitions in the past. At either end of the circular track a piece of the flooring will be taken up for the sprint runners.

Many Stars to Compete

Many Stars to Compete

The Millrose officials will surely present a galaxy of stars in both track and field sports, as among those named to start are Bob Simpson, the remarkable hurdler, Jo Loomis, George Goulding, Ted Meredith, Don M. Scott, Tom Halpin, Dave S. Caldwell, Joie Ray, John W. Overton, Billy Moore, Willie Kyronen, Fred Murray and Earl W. Eby.

John W. Overton, Billy Moore, Wilhe Kyronen, Fred Murray and Earl W. Eby.

The "Millrose 600" is bound to prove at thriller. Among the entrants are Don M. Scott, who will make his first appearance on a board floor; Larry Scudder, of the University of Pennsylvania; Tom Halpin and Dave S. Caldwell, W. A. Miller, holder of the 440-yard Western Conference championship; Homer Baker and probably Ted Meredith. Halpin's American record for the distance is 1:132-5.

Another sensational light is expected when Jehnny Overton, the Yale distance runner; Joie Ray, the national five-mile champion; Mike Devaney, national steeplechase title holder; Sidney Leslie and John W. Byan meet in the one and a half mile run. Reports from the West state that Ray is in exceptionally good condition, as he has eagerly awaited the opportunity of meeting Overton. The latter, however, will certainly be held in high respect by the little Chicago runner, as "Yale Johnny" is an aggressive lighter, and one who never gives up. Leslie's recent victories have shown him to be in fine trim, while Devaney has been working on a schedule for the race during the last month.

on a schedule for the race during the last month.

While Bob Simpson's speed over the high hurdles is known, his ability to skim over the lower obstacles with as much success is still to be ascertained. The question will be solved, however, when the University of Missouri student meets such brilliant sthletes as Fred S. Murray, Jack Eller, Arthur Engels and Jo Loomis. The same field will also come together in the high hurdle contest, which is also at seventy yards.

Distance Too Short

Distance Too Short

Critics believe that the distance is not long enough for Simpson to show his real skill. He is known to be rather slow off his mark, and this will undouptedly prove costly in a race at this short distance.

The youthful Engels is improving with every race, as was indicated by his victory over both Eller and Murray in the special event at the recent Irish-American Athletic Club games. However, it was Murray's first effort on a board floor, while Eller had previously competed in a 60-yard sprint race.

The 70-yard race is another event that is filled with contestants who have earned championship honors. The sensational Brooke Brewer, of Maryland State University, who recently won the junior national indoor championship in commanding fashion, will make his first appearance in this city. The young

Athletes Act When Judges Fall Out — Woodruff Wins Mile Event

The question as to who shall decide when judges disagree was answered at the annual games of the Polytechnic Preparatory School in the 14th Regiment Armory last night. Three judges at the finish were unable to agree on the winner of the 70-yard dash, closed to members of the 14th Regiment, so the athletes made their own decision, and on their word the prizes were awarded.

and on their word the prizes were awarded.
Frank Stephenson, J. H. Aschof and P. Meyers dashed over the tape almost together. There was nothing that suggested a dead heat, but just the same the finish was close. The first judge declared that Aschoff had won, another said that Meyers was second, and another declared that Stephenson was third. The timers had their own ideas on the matter, and a committee of marshals, called in on the inquest, made many valuable suggestions.

Plainly the judges were confused. They walked around in circles, and finally the athletes took a hand in the party. Aschoff insisted that he had finished behind Stephenson, and Meyers declared with emphasis that he had trailed Aschoff.

W. Woodruff, of Central High School, won the one-mile run in bang-up style from a big field of fast travellers. Woodruff broke the worsted about five yards in front of H. Swain, of Manual Training High School. E. Gockeler, of New Rochelle, was a good third.

The race was a thriller from start to finish. Woodruff moved into a commanding position shortly after passing the half-mile mark and rated along nicely, well within himself. Coming along through the last quarter he tried out his field with a couple of spuria. Swain moved right along, and the pair fought a ding-dong battle to the end.

A. Hewlett, a midget, scered in the 50-yard dash for the little fellows. Has is a wee little bit of a fellow, but he surely did move along over the board in famous style. R. K. Brown was second and P. J. Malley third.

Woodruff scored his second sensational victory in the $59-yard run. Rounding the first turn on the last lay Woodruff was knocked out of his stride in a free elbow fight. He suffered the loss of several yards, but managed to retake a commanding position on the back tretch, to win by two feet.

Three Newark boys fought out a stiff battle for the honors in the 75-yard low hurdle event. The judges placed Henry Henderson, of South Side, first:

L. Ten Eyck, representing Barringer, second, and George Schmon, of Central, third. Henderson's time equalled the meet record of 9 2-5 seconds.

The team laurels went to the Central High School, with Poly Prep and Barringer close together in second place.
